LPs Increase to 7,018 in Q3’12; Local Institutional Investors Rise

Affected by the continued deterioration of the European debt crisis and lower-than-expected economic growth at home, China’s VC/PE market in Q3’12 remained weak as it was in H1’12. Data recently released by the Greater China’s famous VC/PE research institution Zero2IPO Research Center show that as of Q3’12, the number of LPs in China’s VC/PE market increased to 7,018, among which 5,656 disclosed the investment amounts, and the funds available for investments in China totaled US$798.64B.

As of Q3’12, there were 7,018 LPs in China’s VC/PE market, including 3,516 wealthy families and individuals as LPs that comprised 50.1% of the total. Next, enterprises as LPs numbered 1,210, representing 17.2%. The two types of LPs took up nearly 70.0% of the market.
