OF CUSTOMS, PETITIONER, VS. PHILIPPINE AIRLINES, INC.
(PAL), RESPONDENT.

[G.R. Nos. 211733-34]

COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE, PETITIONER, VS.
PHILIPPINE AIRLINES, INC. (PAL), RESPONDENT.

R E S O L U T I O N

SERENO, C.J.:

Before the Court are consolidated Petitions for Review on certiorari assailing the Decision of the Court of Tax Appeals en banc (CTA en banc) dated 9 September 2013<sup>[1]</sup> in C.T.A. EB Nos. 920 and 922. Petitioner Commissioner of Internal Revenue (CIR) also assailed the appellate court's Resolution dated 10 March 2014<sup>[2]</sup> in the same consolidated cases.

The Facts

The case stemmed from a claim for a refund by respondent Philippine Airlines, Inc. (PAL) of the amount of P4,469,199.98 representing the alleged erroneously paid excise tax for the period covering July 2005 to February 2006. On 18 January 2007, PAL filed written claims for a refund with the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR). For failure of the BIR to act on the administrative claim, PAL filed two separate Petitions for Review with the CTA on 30 July 2007 and 21 December 2007, docketed as C.T.A. Case Nos. 7665 and 7713, respectively.

The CTA consolidated the two Petitions and tried them jointly. On 17 April 2012, the CTA Second Division rendered a Decision granting the Petitions and ordered the CIR and the Commissioner of Customs (COC) to refund PAL in the total amount of P4,469,199.98.

On 23 April 2012 and 4 May 2012, the CIR and the COC filed their respective Motions for Reconsideration, which were both denied in a Resolution dated 28 June 2012.

C.T.A. EB No. 920

The CIR, in its Petition for Review before the CTA en banc, raised the issue of whether PAL is entitled to a tax refund of the alleged erroneously paid excise tax. The CIR argued that Presidential Decree (P.D.) No. 1590,<sup>[3]</sup> particularly Section 13 thereof, had already been expressly amended by Republic Act (R.A.) No. 9334.<sup>[4]</sup>

Moreover, PAL failed to prove that the alleged commissary supplies were not locally available in reasonable quantity, quality and price considering that no independent credible evidence was presented but merely PAL's own employee where testimony was self-serving and not comprehensive.

C.T.A. EB No. 922

A separate Petition for Review was filed before the CTA en banc by the COC. The latter argued that the case should have been dismissed outright, as it stated no cause of action against petitioner, which merely acted as a collecting agent for the CIR. The COC further alleged that PAL had also failed to exhaust the latter's administrative remedies with the former. Finally, like the CIR, the COC maintained that Sections 6 and 10 of R.A. 9334 had repealed Sections 13 and 24 of P.D. 1590.

THE RULING OF THE CTA *En Banc

The appeals were consolidated. The CTA en banc denied both Petitions and ruled that R.A. 9334 was not expressly repealed by P.D. 1590. The tax court also emphasized that P.D. 1590 is a special law that governs the franchise of PAL, while R.A. 9334 is a general law, and therefore P.D. 1590 must prevail. The CTA held that reliance by petitioners on Cagayan Electric Power Light Co. Inc. v. CIR<sup>[5]</sup> is also misplaced. In that case, there was an express repeal of R.A. 5431, as all corporate taxpayers not expressly exempted under that law and under Section 27 of the Tax Code were subjected to income tax.

The CTA ruled that respondent PAL was entitled to a refund of excise taxes paid on the latter's commissary supplies. The appellate court explained that the exemption granted to PAL under P.D. 1590 was not expressly repealed by R.A. 9334. The CTA found that PAL had opted to pay the latter's basic corporate income tax for the fiscal year ending 31 March 2006. The court also found that the articles imported were intended for the operations of PAL and were not locally available in reasonable quantity, quality or price. The latter is therefore entitled to a refund of erroneously paid excise tax in the total amount of P4,469,199.98.

The Petitions

The COC, instead of filing a motion for reconsideration with the CTA, directly filed a Petition before this Court. The COC assailed the Decision of the CTA en banc in C.T.A. EB Nos. 920 and 922, herein docketed as G.R. Nos. 209353-54.

On the other hand, the CIR appealed the Decision dated 9 September 2013 and Resolution dated 10 March 2014 on its Motion for Reconsideration herein docketed as G.R. Nos. 211733-34.

Issue

Both Petitions raise similar issues, which boil down to the principal one of whether Sections 6 and 10 of R.A. 9334 repealed Section 13 of P.D. 1590.

The Court's Ruling

We find no merit in the Petitions.

The controversy before the Court is not novel. In CIR v. PAL,<sup>[6]</sup> the Court has already passed upon the very same issues raised by the same petitioners. The only differences are the taxable period involved and the amount of refundable tax.

We have held in that case that it is a basic principle in statutory construction that a later law, general in terms and not expressly repealing or amending a prior special law, will not ordinarily affect the special provisions of the earlier statute. A reading of the pertinent provisions of P.D. 1590 and R.A. 9334 shows that there was no express repeal of the grant of exemption:
