2. Paragraph 2 of the Medicines (Traditional Medicines, Homoeopathic Medicines and other Substances) (Exemption) Order (O 6) is deleted and the following paragraphs substituted therefor:

“Definitions

2. In this Order, unless the context otherwise requires —

“Chinese proprietary medicine” means any medicinal product used in the system of therapeutics according to the traditional Chinese method, that is to say, any medicinal product —

(a) which has been manufactured into a finished product;

- (b) which contains one or more active substances derived wholly from any plant, animal or mineral, or any combination thereof; and
- (c) which is, or all of the active substances of which are, described in the current edition of “A Dictionary of Chinese Pharmacy” <<中药大辞典>> or “The Chinese Herbal Medicine Materia Medica” <<本草纲目>>, but does not include —

- (i) any medicinal product to be administered by injection into a human body; or
- (ii) any medicinal product which contains as an active substance any chemically-defined isolated constituent of any plant, animal or mineral, or any combination thereof;

“current edition”, in relation to any publication which describes a Chinese proprietary medicine, means an edition which is current at the time the Chinese proprietary medicine in question is sold or supplied, and includes any amendment, addition or deletion made to that edition of the publication up to that time;

“homoeopathic medicine” means any substance used in the system of therapeutics in which a disease is treated by the use of minute amounts of one or more substances which, in their undiluted forms, are capable of producing in a healthy human being symptoms similar to those of the disease being treated;

“medicated oil and balm” means any external medicated embrocation, medicated cream, ointment or inhalant —

- (a) which is used mainly for soothing purposes; and
- (b) which contains one or more of the following substances as an active ingredient or as active ingredients:
 - (i) any essential oil;
