FOREWORD

The ILO Declaration on Social Justice for a Fair Globalization provides scope for assisting Members in strengthening their research capacity, empirical knowledge and understanding of how the strategic objectives of employment, social protection, social dialogue and rights at work interact with each other and contribute to social progress, sustainable enterprises, sustainable development and the eradication of poverty in the global economy.

In accordance with this plan of action, the 304th Session of the Governing Body set in motion a plan to strengthen the ILO's knowledge base through a series of pilot country studies conducted under the aegis of the International Institute for Labour Studies. The purpose of these studies is to (i) document examples where employment and social policies have successfully contributed toward mitigating the impact of the global financial crisis; (ii) extract policy lessons which could be useful to other countries; and (iii) examine country-specific challenges in the context of the crisis and moving forward.

This report on Indonesia has been prepared by Byung-jin Ha, Sameer Khatiwada, Naren Prasad and Steven Tobin of the International Institute for Labour Studies. The report has benefited from a background paper prepared by Djoni Hartono of the University of Indonesia, and valuable inputs from Emma Allen and Kazutoshi Chatani of the ILO Country Office for Indonesia and Timor-Leste and Marva Corley-Coulibaly of the International Institute for Labour Studies. The study has been coordinated by Steven Tobin under the supervision of the Director of the Institute, Raymond Torres. A draft summary of the report on Indonesia was presented at a seminar organized by the ILO Country Office for Indonesia and Timor-Leste on 28 November 2010. The final report takes into consideration many of the comments received from national authorities, the social partners and other stakeholders during the seminar.
