Introduction to the Handbook

On 8 December 2016, the Governments of China, Mongolia and the Russian Federation signed an Intergovernmental Agreement on International Road Transport along the Asian Highway Network. It is the first agreement to formalize the use of the Asian Highway Network for international road transport operations. This Agreement lays the foundation for new trilateral cooperation between China, Mongolia and the Russian Federation and illustrates the high-level dedication to improving connectivity among these countries and beyond. This is an operational
