

The incorporation of the substantive provisions of the UN ECC in Vietnam's domestic law and evaluating the possibility of Vietnam acceding ECC

Nguyen Dieu Huong
Vietnam E-Commerce and Information Technology Agency
Ministry of Industry and Trade

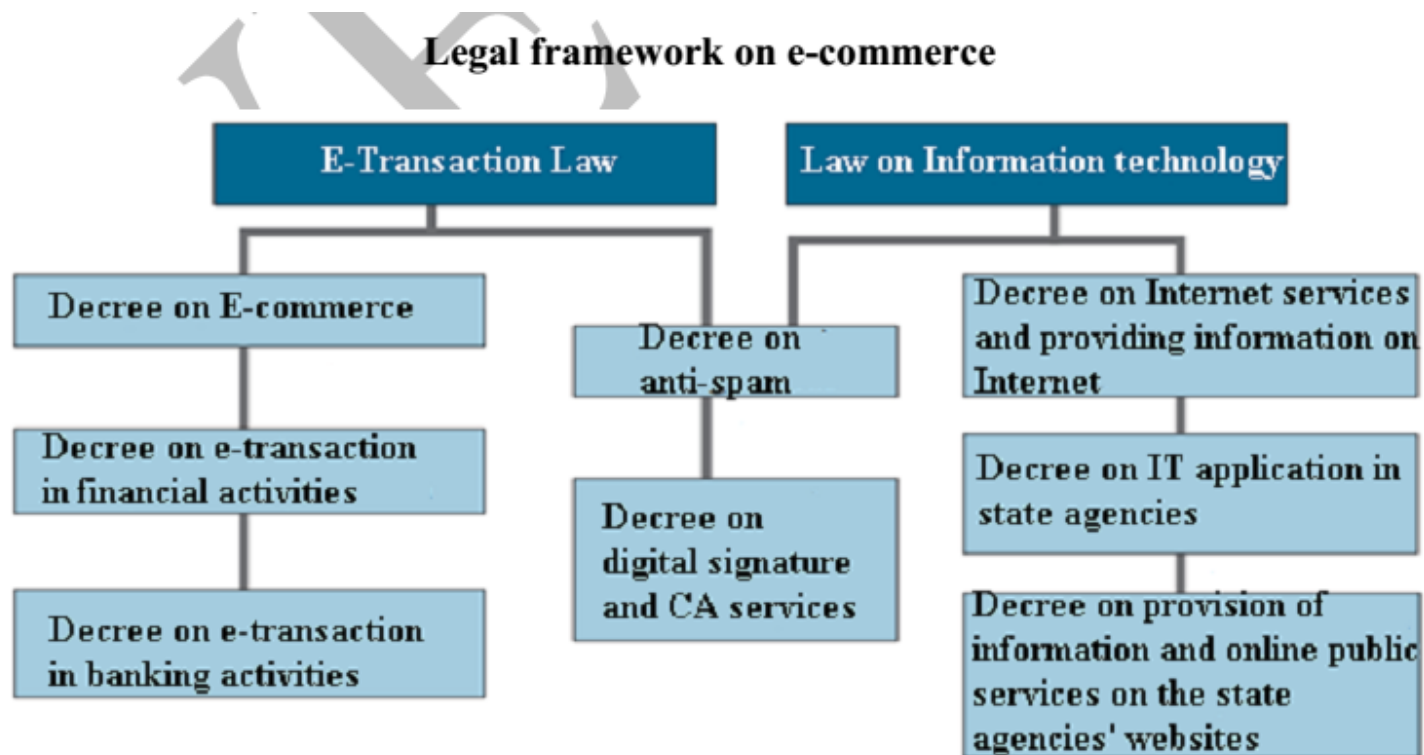

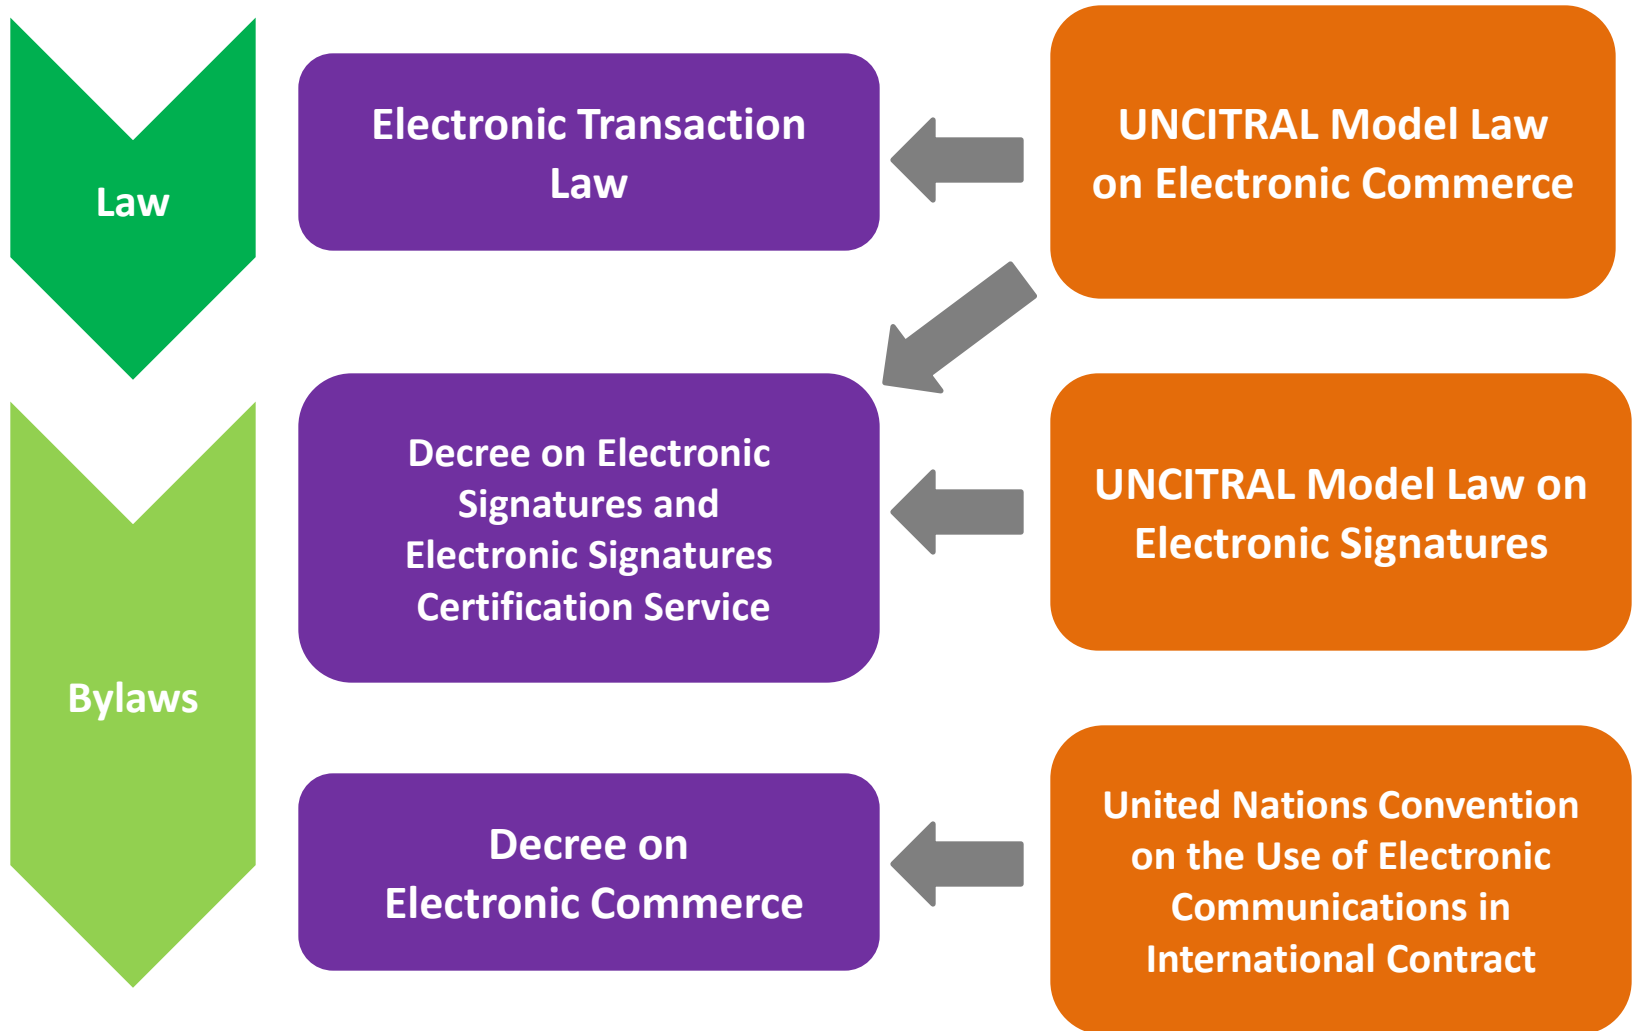

1. The compatibility between Vietnam law and ECC

2. Evaluating the possibility of Vietnam acceding ECC
 - The use of e-contract
 - Benefit of adopting ECC (enterprises; opinions of experts)
 - Advantages and Disadvantages
 - Domestic procedures to accede ECC

The compatibility between Vietnam law and ECC

Provisions	E-Communications Convention	Decree on E-Commerce
Invitations to make offer	Article 11	Article 12
Used of automated message system for contract formation	Article 12	Article 13
Input errors in the use of automated system	Article 14	Article 14
Time and place of dispatch and receive	Article 10	Article 10
Form requirements (Except Article 9, point 3)	Article 9	Article 9

- Comparing Vietnam law on e-contract with ECC
 - Electronic Transaction Law: the difference
 - Time of dispatch
 - Decree on Electronic Commerce: the difference
 - Original form of e-communications
 - Invitations to make offers
- > They are not different in essence but in the way of expression
- > The high compatibility between Vietnam law and ECC

Law on E-Transaction

- Basing on MLEC (15)
- Data Message enters a system outside (17.1)
- Receipt when addressee have actual retrieval (18.2)

Decree on

- Basing on ECC (10.1,2)
- E-Communication leaves a system (10.1)
- Receipt when capable to retrieved &

预览已结束，完整报告链接和二维码如下：

https://www.yunbaogao.cn/report/index/report?reportId=5_4409

