SUBREGIONAL OFFICE FOR EAST AND NORTH-EAST ASIA

WELCOME TO UNESCAP SRO-ENE

The Subregional Office for East and North-East Asia (SRO-ENE) is the first of three new Subregional Offices established to strengthen UNESCAP's ability to focus on priorities in each of its very diverse geographic subregions. By integrating a subregional, geographic approach into its thematic work, UNESCAP is better placed to provide services to our member countries in addressing development challenges and towards promoting knowledge-sharing and stronger subregional and intra-regional cooperation.

The Songdo office is located in North East Asia, the centre of the fastest-growing economic region in the world. With two of the three largest economies in the world, East and North-East Asia has a population of 1.56 billion. It will remain a vast engine of growth for the world for decades to come, and it will be a global leader in ensuring stability and security. And as a global leader, the subregion has already taken on the task of identifying solutions to address the social disparities and environmental challenges and to mitigate the impact of natural and manmade disasters that occur all too frequently in East and North-East Asia. UNESCAP looks forward to working with all member countries, and especially those of the Subregion, in achieving these critical goals.

Dr. Noeleen Heyzer

Under-Secretary-General of the United Nations and Executive Secretary of UNESCAP

The SRO-ENEA was established by a UN General Assembly Resolution and was inaugurated on 17 May 2010 in Songdo, Incheon in the Republic of Korea to support the six member countries: China, Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Japan, Mongolia, Republic of Korea and the Russian Federation. SRO-ENEA is currently the only comprehensive multilateral hub for all six North-East Asian countries and also serves as the Secretariat of the North-East Asian Subregional Programme for Environmental Cooperation (NEASPEC).

This brochure provides a brief introduction to our work and broad range of activities that are carried out towards alleviating poverty, reducing social and economic inequalities, and building more resilient and sustainable societies. Through our work, we strive to connect the subregion by bridging economic, social and environmental gaps among member countries in the subregion.

WHO WE ARE

UNESCAP SRO-ENEA is established to

- support the work of the Commission;
- enhance multilateral cooperation in North-East Asia;
- serve as the development arm of the United Nations in North-East Asia; and
- perform the function of Secretariat of North-East Asian Subregional Programme for Environmental Cooperation (NEASPEC)

Our Staff

Our staff come from all over the world representing 10 nationalities with a broad diversity of educational and professional backgrounds. Our exceptional diversity gives us the range of expertise to support our member countries in achieving subregional development goals in areas including macroeconomics, trade and transport, disaster risk reduction, environmental sustainability and social development.

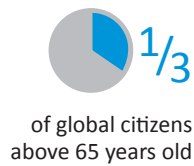

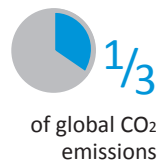

Our Partners

To fully realize SRO-ENEA's potential as a hub of cooperation, we build strong partnerships with governments as well as non-state actors. We work with various partners in developing and implementing programmes for subregional cooperation. We maintain partnerships with civil society organizations, national research institutions, academia, multilateral organizations, and we work with members of UN affiliated programmes including United Nations Global Compact, Academic Impact and NGOs with consultative status in ECOSOC.

Addressing Social Disparities

Even though East and North-East Asia as a whole has enjoyed tremendous economic prosperity in recent years, there is growing economic disparity and social inequality in society. We strive to make development inclusive of all social groups, and promote collaboration and sharing of good practices across and among the member countries.
