IDP Response

UNHCR observed a drop in the internally displaced people's (IDP) attendance at community centres, most likely due to the increase in transportation prices associated with fuel shortages. In Sa'adah, for example, nearly 50% of attendees, particularly those who had follow-up sessions, have not shown up to the centres, a significant difference when compared to last month.

UNHCR has supported over 15,260 internally displaced families with cash assistance (mainly in multi-purpose cash assistance and rental subsidies) so far in 2022 out of the initial¹ planned target of 42,000 households. On 24 February 2022, UNHCR launched cash distribution in Sana'a hub. Some 8,830 IDP households are targeted by the first cash distribution batch of 2022, out of which 2,974 households received their cash assistance while the remaining are expected to receive it in the coming days. Another 3,447 families received cash assistance in Al-Dhale'e, Ibb, and Taizz governorates, 692 in Sa'adah and 2,355 in Al Jawf governorate. Of note, UNHCR's partner Sustainable Development Foundation reported that demand for cash assistance has peaked since fuel shortage has significantly driven up the prices of basic needs (such as flour, rice and sugar). The fuel crisis continues to be a stifling challenge facing civilians and humanitarian actors.

Together with Marib Executive Unit, and in partnership with the Office of Education, UNHCR CCCM partner Society for Humanitarian Solidarity (SHS) identified locations to construct schools at the Al Somaya site in Al Wadi district. The locations were identified in coordination with site residents to ensure that the designated areas were easily accessible. The first school is currently under construction, and another four schools will follow, with 40 classrooms expected to accommodate more than 4,530 school-aged children.

Refugee Response

Over reporting period, the national oral polio vaccine campaign was launched throughout Yemen. UNHCR supported mobile health workers throughout the campaign period, conducting door-to-door vaccination visits for all households with children, including refugee children. The campaign was completed with 2,000 children vaccinated in Kharaz camp and Basateen.

On 20 February, UNHCR held a meeting with refugee education actors to finalise partnership agreements for refugee education activities. The meeting aim was to introduce and brief partners on education activities and coordination mechanisms at six Kharaz camp and Basateen district schools with the highest rates of refugee students enrolled in primary and intermediate classes. In addition, UNHCR supports schools with supplementary items each year and payment of incentives for teachers to ensure equitable and inclusive education for all.
