This research brief was commissioned by the Gender, Equity and Human Rights team at WHO headquarters, in partnership with the Field Epidemiology Support team of the Department of Health Emergency Information and Risk Assessment, WHO Emergency Response. The process was led by Theadora Swift Koller, Senior Technical Advisor for Health Equity, and Niluka Wijekoon Kannangarage, Epidemiologist, Field Epidemiology Support.

The brief was prepared by Jakob Dirksen and Monica Pinilla-Roncancio of the Oxford Poverty and Human Development Initiative (OPHI), Oxford Department of International Development, University of Oxford, Oxford, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. OPHI Director Sabina Alkire provided oversight and reviewed the various drafts; the drafts were also reviewed by Aparna John, Hector Moreno, Putu Natih and Ricardo Nogales, including contributions from Ann Barham and Maya Evans.

The following WHO staff also reviewed the drafts and provided comments: Anjana Bhushan, Emanuele Bruni, Anna Coates, Fahdi Dhkimi, Gabriela Flores, Theadora Swift Koller, Ruth Minda Mabry, Boris Pavlin, Anna Rita Ronzoni, Gina Samaan, Anne Schlotheuber, Anand Sivasankara Kurup, Pramila Shrestha, Orielle Solar, Niluka Wijekoon Kannangarage and Teresa Zakaria.

Special thanks are due to the following external reviewers: Chiara Altare, Erik Blas, Ali Davis, Gonzalo Hernandez-Licona, Emily Lyles, Michelle Muschett; Samuel Juma Oketch, Juan Daniel Oviedo, Ruby Siddiqui, Heriberto Tapia, Yanchun Zhang and the National Statistics Office of Colombia (DANE).

Pramila Shrestha, Technical Officer, Gender, Equity and Human Rights, convened regular meetings between WHO and OPHI and facilitated the review process.

This work has been made possible through funds received from the Programme Cooperation Agreement between the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Norway and the World Health Organization (MFA-WHO Programme Cooperation Agreement 2019).
