Acknowledgments

This document is the result of a collaborative effort to improve the measurement and use of indicators to assess infant and young child feeding practices, initiated by the World Health Organization's Department of Child and Adolescent Health and Development. A particular debt of gratitude is owed to the members of the working group that developed and contributed to all sections of the document under the leadership of Mary Arimond and Megan Deitchler. The working group was composed of:

- Mary Arimond, Program in International and Community Nutrition, University of California, Davis, USA; formerly International Food Policy Research Institute, Washington, DC, USA.
- Megan Deitchler, Food and Nutrition Technical Assistance II Project (FANTA-2), Academy for Educational Development (AED), Washington, DC, USA.
- Alfredo Fort (PATH), Monica Kothari (PATH), and Shea Rutstein, Demographic and Health Surveys, ICF Macro, Calverton, MD, USA.
- Attila Hancioglu and Holly Newby, Statistics and Monitoring Section, UNICEF, New York, USA.
- Julia Krasevec and Mandana Arabi, Nutrition Section, UNICEF, New York, USA.

Special thanks are also due to the reviewers who made extensive and invaluable comments on an earlier draft: Terri Ballard, Agnes Guyon, Sandy Huffman, Mary Lung'aho, Ali Maclaine, Josephine Obel and Helena Pachon. Garden Tabacchi contributed to Annex 4 of the document, while Bernadette Daelmans and Ann-Beth Moller coordinated inputs to the developmental process in WHO.

This document was made possible with the support of the Department of Child and Adolescent Health and Development, World Health Organization, Geneva, Switzerland; the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI), Washington, DC; the Food and Nutrition Technical Assistance II Project (FANTA-2), Academy for Educational Development (AED), Washington, DC; and the Office of Health, Infectious Disease, and Nutrition, Bureau for Global Health, United States Agency for International Development (USAID), Washington, DC, USA.
