PREFACE

The WHO Country Cooperation Strategy (CCS) crystallizes the major reforms adopted by the World Health Organization with a view to intensifying its interventions in the countries. It has infused a decisive qualitative orientation into the modalities of our institution's coordination and advocacy interventions in the African Region. Currently well established as a WHO medium-term planning tool at country level, the cooperation strategy aims at achieving greater relevance and focus in the determination of priorities, effective achievement of objectives and greater efficiency in the use of resources allocated for WHO country activities.

The first generation of country cooperation strategy documents was developed through a participatory process that mobilized the three levels of the Organization, the countries and their partners. For the majority of countries, the 2004-2005 biennium was the crucial point of refocusing of WHO's action. It enabled the countries to better plan their interventions, using a results-based approach and an improved management process that enabled the three levels of the Organization to address their actual needs.

Drawing lessons from the implementation of the first generation CCS documents, the second generation documents, in harmony with the 11th General Work Programme of WHO and the Medium-term Strategic Framework, address the country health priorities defined in their health development and poverty reduction sector plans. The CCSs are also in line with the new global health context and integrated the principles of alignment, harmonization, efficiency, as formulated in the Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness and in recent initiatives like the "Harmonization for Health in Africa" (HHA) and "International Health Partnership Plus" (IHP+). They also reflect the policy of decentralization implemented and which enhances the decision-making capacity of countries to improve the quality of public health programmes and interventions.

Finally, the second generation CCS documents are synchronized with the United Nations development Assistance Framework (UNDAF) with a view to achieving the Millennium Development Goals.

I commend the efficient and effective leadership role played by the countries in the
