No. 7721. EXCHANGE OF NOTES CONSTITUTING AN AGREEMENT¹ BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND JAPAN RELATING TO MUTUAL DEFENSE ASSISTANCE EQUIPMENT, MATERIALS AND SERVICES. TOKYO, 4 DECEMBER 1964

I

The American Ambassador to the Japanese Prime Minister

No. 509.

Tokyo, December 4, 1964

Excellency :

I have the honor to refer to the Mutual Defense Assistance Agreement between the United States of America and Japan signed at Tokyo on March 8, 1954,² which provides, inter alia, that each Government will make available to the other such equipment, materials, services, or other assistance as the Government furnishing such assistance may authorize, in accordance with such detailed arrangements as may be made between them.

Having regard to the mutual interest in the development of an effective air defense system for Japan, the representatives of the Governments of the United States of America and Japan have held discussions concerning a cost-sharing program to expand and convert the existing Japanese aircraft control and warning system to a semi-automatic air weapons control system, hereinafter referred to as the base air defense ground environment (BADGE) system. As a result of these discussions, the understanding of my Government is as follows :

1. The Government of Japan will establish a semi-automatic air weapons control system. This system will be maintained, operated and utilized by the Government of Japan, and the data obtained therefrom will be made available to the Government of the United States of America to be used for the defense of Japan.

2. The Government of the United States of America will assist the Government of Japan in obtaining certain equipment, materials, and services necessary for the BADGE system.

3. At least 50 per cent of equipment to be procured for the BADGE system will be equipment the source of which is in the United States, and such percentage will be in terms of dollar value based on the United States Contractor's cost estimate.

4. The Government of the United States of America will contribute, subject to the availability of appropriated funds, 25 percent of the cost of the BADGE equipment, materials and services, in an amount not to exceed $9 million. The funds contributed
