The General Conference of the International Labour Organisation,
Having been convened at Geneva by the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, and having met in its Tenth Session on 25 May 1927, and

Having decided upon the adoption of certain proposals with regard to sickness insurance for agricultural workers, which is included in the first item of the agenda of the Session, and

Having determined that these proposals shall take the form of an international Convention, adopts this fifteenth day of June of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven the following Convention, which may be cited as the Sickness Insurance (Agriculture) Convention, 1927, for ratification by the Members of the International Labour Organisation in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of the International Labour Organisation :

Article 1

Each Member of the International Labour Organisation which ratifies this Convention undertakes to set up a system of compulsory sickness insurance for agricultural workers, which shall be based on provisions at least equivalent to those contained in this Convention.

Article 2

1. The compulsory sickness insurance system shall apply to manual and non-manual workers, including apprentices, employed by agricultural undertakings.

2. It shall, nevertheless, be open to any Member to make such exceptions in its national laws or regulations as it deems necessary in respect of—

(a) temporary employment which lasts for less than a period to be determined by national laws or regulations, casual employment not for the purpose of the employer's trade or business, occasional employment and subsidiary employment;

¹ For the date of entry into force of the Convention and the list of ratifications see Certified Statement on page 354.

- (b) workers whose wages or income exceed an amount to be determined by national laws or regulations;
- (c) workers who are not paid a money wage;
- (d) out-workers whose conditions of work are not of a like nature to those of ordinary wage-earners;
- (e) workers below or above age-limits to be determined by national laws or regulations;
- (f) members of the employer's family.

8. It shall further be open to exempt from the compulsory sickness insurance system persons who in case of sickness are entitled by virtue of any laws or regulations, or of a special scheme, to advantages at least equivalent on the whole to those provided for in this Convention.

Article 3

1. An insured person who is rendered incapable of work by reason of the abnormal state of his bodily or mental health shall be entitled to a cash benefit for at least the first twenty-six weeks of incapacity from and including the first day for which benefit is payable.

2. The payment of this benefit may be made conditional on the insured person having first complied with a qualifying period and, on the expiry of the same, with a waiting period of not more than three days.

8. Cash benefit may be withheld in the following cases :

- (a) where in respect of the same illness the insured person receives compensation from another source to which he is entitled by law; benefit shall only be wholly or partially withheld in so far as such compensation is equal to or less than the amount of the benefit provided by the present Article;
- (b) as long as the insured person does not by the fact of his incapacity suffer any loss of the normal product of his labour, or is maintained at the expense of the insurance funds or from public funds; nevertheless, cash benefits shall only partially be withheld when the insured person, although thus personally maintained, has family responsibilities;
- (c) as long as the insured person while ill refuses, without valid reason, to comply with the doctor's orders, or the instructions relating to the conduct of insured persons while ill, or voluntarily and without authorisation removes himself from the supervision of the insurance institutions.

4. Cash benefit may be reduced or refused in the case of sickness caused by the insured person's wilful misconduct.
